Parking fees rise in 'budget building homes for people'

By Owen Hughes

AN increase in car park charges, higher council tax and more funds to help Oxford's homeless were given the go ahead by Oxford City Council.

Councillors were largely in agreement at Monday's budget meeting with the most contentious issues around price changes for Headington car parks and the Seacourt Park and Ride expansion causing the most consternation.

Council leader Susan Brown said: "We agreed a small increase in some of our suburban car parks in order to keep prices down in our park and ride car parks.

"There were some representations made by Headington shopkeepers, and we made some adjustments to the budget as a result of that.

"It had been the case that people had to pay for two hours parking as a minimum in the Headington car park and we have changed that."

Shoppers will now pay £2 to park for less than one hour and £2.50 for one to two hours, rather than £1.70 for the first two hours.

The move was strongly opposed by Liberal Democrat councillors.

Cllr Elizabeth Wade said: "This is just another salami slice to the Headington district shopping centre.

"Businesses in Headington are obviously under stress as it is, as you can see from the number of charity shops and the reduction in small independent businesses."

Parking charges have been frozen for most stays at park and ride sites but controversial plans to push on with Seacourt Park and Ride will continue.

Cllr Dick Wolff, Green Party said, "Generally there was a consensus around most of the budget and the Seacourt Park and Ride was always going to be the big difference between the two. It's concreting over a large chunk of flood plain and green belt.

"We would have put a halt to it, giving us £4million to spend on things we consider more value for money, including enhanced provision for homelessness which the city is proposing but we would have done more."

The budget pledges an increase in spending to combat the city's "severe issues" with homelessness and rough sleeping, allocating a further £187,000 on top of an additional £200,000 a year from 2019/20.

Cllr Brown added, "We feel that we have a budget that is building homes for people who need them in the city and doing our best to tackle the problems of homelessness, that are not problems of our making."

The city share of residents council tax bills will also increase by 2.99 per cent per year, equivalent to an additional £8.67 for an average Band D home.

Cyclists peddle safety message

A GROUP of cyclists gathered in Oxford to ensure bike enthusiasts can stay safe on the city's streets.

Rose Hill and Iffley Low Carbon met to urge Oxfordshire County Council and Oxford City Council to invest in a segregated joined-up network of cycle tracks throughout the city.

The group, which helped draw up the Claudia Charter after the death of cyclist Claudia Comberti in May last year, says injuries caused to cyclists are almost all due to them having to use the same space as motor traffic.

They are also taking action to get people out of cars and onto bikes to reduce pollution and congestion.

Most Common Cause of Hearing Loss

Hearing loss can happen to anyone who is, or has been, exposed to loud noises if the negative conditions are right For the adolescent and baby boomer segments of the population, the most common cause of hearing loss is prolonged, chronic exposure to loud noises. This is called noise-induced hearing loss (NIHL), and is permanent

3 TIPS TO PROTECT YOUR HEARING

Avoid harmful noise
Musical concerts and movies offer wonderful experiences but can hurt your hearing Consider wearing hearing protection if you are in loud commercial, industrial, or recreational environments Avoid loud rock concerts – or, at least, wear earplugs if you do attend

Practice healthy lifestyle habits
Making sensible lifestyle choices is great for your overall health and especially your hearing This means refraining from smoking, eating well and exercising to ensure that your body stay in the best possible shape

Get your hearing checked regularly
Some hearing problems can be treated if they are caught early Don't hesitate to ask your doctor for a hearing test if you are feeling uncertain about your ability to hear, or book a FREE hearing test at one of our Better Hearing Exhibition venues

Which? Best hearing aid provider overview

Following an extensive survey and the views of over 400 Which? members who had purchased hearing aids in the last 3 years, independent retailers came out top with a customer score of 84%. This score was based on customer satisfaction and recommendation which included levels of service and aftercare

Better Hearing - advice you can trust

Are we qualified?
Our Audiologists hold advanced degrees from accredited universities and have special training in the identification, assessment and non-medical treatment of hearing disorders They complete a full-time internship, pass a demanding national examination and must be fully licensed This makes our Audiologists the most qualified to advise you on your hearing

How long have we been helping people with hearing difficulties?
We have over 35 years of experience and have fitted over ten thousand digital hearing instruments An audiologist who has fitted thousands of patients is more likely to recognise and solve problems Our Audiologists will maximise the potential of your hearing instruments by using all the features of your ideal aid, while the less skilled might fail to activate all the hearing aid's capabilities

How will you determine what is best for my hearing situation?
Our Audiologist will take a detailed history of your hearing problem, your expectations, and lifestyle In addition, a thorough tone and speech testing assessment will be carried out. Measurements for comfortable hearing levels are also tested

Our comprehensive testing is to improve your hearing sensibility and re-establish normal hearing perception

Are there any hearing aid manufacturers you recommend?
As Independent Audiologists, we work with All the hearing aid manufacturers from around the world Every hearing loss is unique and one manufacturer product line may not meet the needs of everyone! As we work with the world's choice, we are in the best position possible to select the correct device that will match your needs

MPs unite over NHS staff shortage

OXFORDSHIRE S MPs joined forces to tackle the issue of NHS staffing shortages.

Oxford West and Abingdon MP Layla Moran secured a debate at the House of Commons on Tuesday to discuss ways to drive recruitment and retention of NHS staff in the county.

During the debate, Banbury MP Victoria Prentis emphasised the need to be creative with recruitment ideas, have greater clarity when considering the domino effect of staffing shortages and communicate more openly and transparently.

Speaking after the debate, Mrs Prentis said: "We need to think outside the box and tackle the problems together. We are in urgent need of a vision for our health service and must keep up the pressure."

Murder charge dropped over death of teenager

A MAN who was charged on suspicion of killing a 16-year-old boy in Oxford has had a murder count against him dropped.

Police dropped the charge against Craig Ford, 33, and continue to investigate the incident.

A murder investigation was launched following the stabbing of Harun Jama in Friars Wharf on January 3.

Four days later, Ford, of Luther Street, Oxford, was charged with murder, robbery, possession of a bladed article and two counts of possession with intent to supply class A drugs.

Following a review of the case by the CPS and Thames Valley Police last Tuesday the charges of murder, robbery and possession of a bladed article against Ford were discontinued.

He remains charged with two counts of possession with intent to supply class A drugs.

Abre Ashcroft 25, of Luther Street, Oxford, was also charged on January 7 with two counts of possession with intent to supply class A drugs.

Senior investigating officer Andy Howard, said: "The investigation remains very active and I would still ask that anyone with any information relating to this offence gets in touch.

"It is essential that we speak to these people."

Two further arrests were made earlier this month. A 45-year old woman and a 36-year-old man were arrested on suspicion of assisting offenders.

Call 101 if you have any information.

InBrief

Reaper arrests

FOURTEEN people across Oxfordshire, Berkshire and Buckinghamshire were arrested for evading justice and failing to appear at court.

The wanted criminals were arrested for a variety of offences including assault, burglary and theft.

A total of 96 arrest attempts were made between January 30 and February 1, with 12 men and two women located.

Detective Sergeant Granville Wilhams said Operation Reaper is "set to continue over the coming months"

Tributes to gentleman

COLLEAGUES and friends have paid tribute to popular sweeper driver Richard Hamilton who died last week.

Streetscene operations manager Ian Thompson said the team are "devastated by the sudden loss of Richard", while friends said they would remember the 71-year-old as a "gentleman" and a "great mate"

Mr Hamilton suffered a cardiac arrest while driving his car along a rural road in Sunningwell on Friday

Emergency shelter

EMERGENCY night shelter will be provided for homeless people in Oxford over the coming nights with temperatures set to plunge below zero

Oxford City Council activated its Severe Weather Emergency Protocol (SWEP) meaning beds will be provided from this evening (Thursday) until Sunday night. A decision as whether to extend SWEP will be made on Monday

Donations cancelled as Oxfam admits mistakes

By Eva Astreinidou

OXFAM S top executives were told they have to get their house in order after 26 new sexual misconduct allegations came to light.

Chief executive Mark Goldring, chair of trustees Caroline Thomson, and Winnie Byanyima, executive director of Oxfam International appeared before the Commons International Development Committee on Tuesday.

Speaking to the committee, Mr Goldring said there have been new allegations since the news of the Haiti sex scandal broke and he admitted he did not read a report into the misconduct of aid workers after he joined the organisation in 2013.

Summing up the session, MP Stephen Twigg said the committee accepts that safeguarding is an issue for the whole sector not just Oxfam – but that the charity has to get its house in order.

The committee heard how 7,000 people have now cancelled regular donations to Oxfam.

Speaking to the committee, Ms Byanyima said: "I m ashamed. I have spent my life trying to stand up for women s rights and to fight for people living in poverty. This is painful for me. Some hideous men came into our organisation and abused the trust of the British people the supporters."

In a statement released earlier this week, Oxfam apologised for its mistakes' as they released a confidential report to be presented to government.

The report into alleged abuse by some of its staff revealed that three of the men accused of sexual misconduct in Haiti physically threatened witnesses during a 2011 investigation.

The report also describes how Oxfam allowed the charity s country director of operations in Haiti, Roland Van Hauwermeiren, to quietly resign in exchange for helping with the inquiry after he "admitted using prostitutes" at his Oxfam residence following the disaster in 2010.

Seven Oxfam employees left the organisation as a result of their behaviour in Haiti that year, the report revealed.

It added that more needed to be done for tighter safeguarding to stop disgraced aid workers moving to new posts.

But several men linked to the alleged abuse subsequently took up roles at other charities including Mr Van Hauwermeiren.

In an official statement last Friday international development secretary Penny Mordaunt set out demands that Oxfam needs to fulfil before any more taxpayer cash is given to the charity.

These included outlining how the charity will handle any allegations that they report staff involved in this incident to their respective national governments, and that they fully cooperate with the Haitian authorities including handing over all evidence they hold.

Protesters highlight suffering of people in Syria

A PROTEST vigil was held in Oxford to highlight the suffering of people in Syria and stand in solidarity with the people of Afrin.

The Oxford Emergency Committee for Afrin joined forces at the Martyrs Memorial in St Giles on Monday to raise awareness of the attacks on the North West region of the country.

The group says 37 villages in the region have been subjected to continuous shelling and bombing by the Turkish State, and that most of the inhabitants have either been killed, injured, or evacuated.

Rojeen Qaqu, spokesperson for the group said: "The medical authorities report that over 100 people have died and over 350 have been severely injured, some with life changing injuries.

"We are holding our vigil to highlight the suffering of the people of Afrin and to bear witness to all who have been killed and injured."

The group is calling for three measures to be implemented by the international community, including an immediate ceasefire for all of Syria.

The vigil also honoured the fighters of the Syrian Democratic Forces especially the women fighters who have lost their lives over this past month in the defence of Afrin.

The Oxford Emergency Committee was set up last month by the Kurdish and Syrian community living in the city.

Move to stop pop-up brothels

By Eva Astreinidou

THE city council is backing a call to regulate short term let properties and stop them being used as pop-up brothels.

The rise in popularity of sites such as AirBnB is leading to an increase in sex trafficking and use of such properties for rowdy parties.

More than 1,200 properties in Oxford are listed on the site, and Oxford City Council has now joined in a call to regulate the market.

Oxford city councillor Alex Hollingsworth is supporting the calls by a London council for legislation.

Cllr Hollingsworth said: "We are seeing increasing numbers of properties being used permanently as short-term lets and with that come increasing problems.

"We know of short-term lets in Oxford being used as 'pop-up brothels' associated with sex trafficking, and reports of parties with up to 100 guests suddenly appearing in residential areas."

Cllr Hollingsworth supports the Royal Borough of Kensington & Chelsea Council and says Government needs to be lobbied to introduce legislation to ensure hosts apply for a licence to be included in a register kept by the council.

He added: "What we now see in Oxford, like other cities, is properties essentially being used as hotels or guest-houses but without any of the regulation and safety checks that hotels and guest houses undertake."

A spokesperson for AirBnB said: "We have zero tolerance for this type of behaviour and permanently remove bad actors from our platform. Over 260 million people have travelled on Airbnb and bad experiences are extremely rare.

"The overwhelming majority of Airbnb hosts and guests are good neighbours and respectful travellers but when issues happen, we work to make things right.

"We work closely with police forces on criminal behaviour, and assist them with their investigation in any way we can."

They added: "There have been no issues in the area brought to our attention by the council."

There are a number of short term let providers in Oxford and the spokesman said it was inaccurate to call it an AirBnB issue.

Bottle attack CCTV

CCTV footage has been released from an Oxford nightclub fracas after a man received multiple blows to the head with a bottle.

The assault took place last year at the Bridge nightclub on Hythe Street on November 26 at around 3am.

The 23-year old victim was taken to hospital after sustaining head injuries and later discharged.

Thames Valley Police said the man in the CCTV footage, pictured above, could have "vital information" about the incident.

The CCTV footage can be viewed on YouTube at youtu.be/hSI76GDBfEA.

Witnesses should call the non-emergency number on 101 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Teenager stabbed

AN Oxford teenager was stabbed in the neck during a fight on Wednesday last week.

The victim, a 17-year-old boy, was involved in a scuffle with a group of people at the junction of Middle Way and Rogers Street in Summertown, where he received stab wounds to his neck and arm.

No details of the offenders have yet been released.

Fuel usage plan for waste plastics

By George Welch

WASTE plastics could be transformed into high-quality fuels using a technique being developed by a new Oxford company

Chinese-backed Oxford Sustainable Fuels wants to commercialise a method discovered last summer by scientists at Oxford University

The spin-out wants to develop the new technique to tackle the growing global plastics crisis by making it easier and more efficient to recycle waste.

Oxford academics believe they have found a way for unsorted, mixed plastics to be transformed into useful transportation fuels.

OSF CEO Dr Tiancun Xiao said the firm would help "transform waste to valuable and needed products"

He added, "To be a part of the solution in helping our global and local environment is a huge motivation for us We believe this to be a key element in the fight against plastic in the oceans by turning waste into a valued raw material."

Oxford University Innovation, the institution s research commercialisation unit, raised £1million to launch OSF

GEM president Dr Kaihua Xu, said. "The OSF team from Oxford have developed a pyrolysis oil upgrading technology that not only solves the problem of organic waste but also provides renewable energy for the future."

There was outcry previously when Sir David Attenborough s Blue Planet programme showed vivid images of plastic pollution.

Tiancun Xiao one of the scientists who developed the technique and chief executive of the new company, added. "We believe this to be a key element in the fight against plastic in the oceans by turning waste into a valued raw material."

In recent years the rate of global plastic production has exploded with the total quantity of plastic produced every year approximately the same as the entire weight of humanity

It is believed that less than 10 per cent of plastic is recycled due to the complexity of sorting, separating and cleaning for the recycling process.

Oxford City Council is in the minority of local authorities which collect mixed rigid plastics such as trays, tubs and pots

InBrief

Knifepoint robbery

TWO men were pinned against a wall and punched several times at an Oxford sports ground as they were threatened and robbed at knifepoint at 4am.

Police appealed for witnesses following the robbery at Risinghurst Sports Ground on February 11.

Two mobile phones, a set of mobile speakers and a black leather wallet containing bank cards, a driving license and cash were stolen.

It happened near the corner of Ringwood Road.

Both attackers are white –one is around 5ft 8in tall and wore a beanie hat the other is 6ft tall and was carrying a knife in his waist band.

Contact police on 101 quoting reference number 43180044207 if you have any information.

Sports ground cash

SUMMERTOWN sports facilities will receive a £50 000 boost after Oxford City Council approved funds for upgrades.

New toilets, a kitchen and club area will be installed at the Five Mile Drive Recreation Ground, doubling as a polling station for Wolvercote

Deputy leader Councillor Linda Smith said. "The Summertown Stars AFC are a real asset to Oxford and I m delighted we will be providing a new facility for their junior teams "

Children choose favourite books

YOUNGSTERS are delving deep into their favourite books as part of this year's Oxfordshire Book Awards

Reception and Y6 children at Rye St Anthony s in Oxford have now read several titles from the 15 on a list assigned in November

They have until the end of March to read them all and vote for the winner and the highly commended book

The Oxfordshire Book Awards have been running for the last 10 years. The awards are voted for entirely by children, who read and nominate their favourite books

Repairs ahead of heritage application

SOMETHING fishy has been going on below the surface at the home of Oxford s iconic rooftop shark ahead of moves to have the feature added to the council's heritage list

Maintenance repairs are currently being made to fix a leak into the house at New High Street, Headington, by Admiral Roofing, before an application is made to add the 25 foot-tall artwork to the Oxford Heritage Asset Register

The fibreglass fish designed by John Buckley 'crashed through the roof tiles of Oxford celebrity Bill Heine in 1986 much to the chagrin of Oxford City Council.

An appeal to the Secretary of State for Environment Michael Heseltine in 1992 halted the council s demands to remove the installation.

Headington councillor Mohammed Altaf-Khan said. "Traditionally there have been opposition s in the past, but now there are maybe only one or two people

Tha infamous shark in Headington Picture Cendwen via Wikimedia Commons

"The majority of people that I've spoken to in Headington and in the New High Street, they think it a quite attractive for the area and brings a lot of tourists "

He added the application will be submitted to the council in the next few weeks

A better way to recycle oil

GETTING rid of unwanted cooking oil has become easier in Oxford with a new scheme

The residue can now be recycled by simply collecting it in a plastic bottle that will fit in your food caddy or red bin.

The idea eliminates the danger caused by pouring it down the sink or the nearest drain.

Breaking down oil with soap and water is not recommended, as the oil can re-solidify and cause drain pipes to get blocked. It can also travel to get into rivers and lakes causing oxygen levels to drop, which can suffocate wildlife.

Recycling and waste driver Paul Cripps and Cllr John Tanner dispose of a plastic bottle of cooking oil using the new method

Where did I put that suitcase of spuds?

A SUITCASE containing two mannequins heads another full of potatoes and a rucksack filled with adult toys.

Those are just a few unexpected items left on buses across Oxfordshire last year.

The Oxford Bus Company revealed the weird and wonderful items which were lost by passengers last year.

It said staff recorded more than 4,000 items which were left on its services – but less than 1,000 were reclaimed by passengers.

Other surprising items to be left on buses include a pair of teeth, a trumpet, a Soviet Union hat and a monocle.

A dog skeleton Halloween costume ski sticks and an electric bike were also abandoned.

Jade Dixon customer relations officer said "We always seek to reunite passengers with their belongings and we encourage everyone to check they have their personal items before leaving our buses. Unfortunately a lot of things do get left behind and we hold them for a fixed period in case they are claimed, so it is always worth getting in touch if you've lost something.

"Clothing and mobile phones are commonly left on buses but we do collect a lot of unusual items as well."

Unrecovered items are donated to charities and a large handover of clothes and household goods was made to Sobell House last month.

Bus company employee stole for gambling habit

By George Welch

A BUS employee who scammed his firm out of almost £750,000 has been jailed for four years.

Colin Smart of Crundel Rise, Witney, admitted stealing the cash – £733,737 – from the Oxford Bus Company between April 2011 and March 2017.

The 47-year-old "abused his position as a business analyst at the Cowley-based company to fund his gambling addiction.

Smart stole cash that had been collected from kerbside ticket collectors.

He was one of the staff responsible for recording the money onto a computer system once it had been counted – he then manipulated the computer records to conceal the theft.

Instead, the ill-gotten gains were deposited into his personal bank accounts and used for gambling online.

His gambling losses outweighed his wins and he continued to fund his lifestyle, including expensive cars, by stealing from the company.

Smart, who worked at the company for more than 28 years, had his six-year scam rumbled after money transfer company PayPal flagged up suspicious activity.

The married father-of-one was convicted of fraud by abuse of position, theft by employee and concealing/disguising/converting/transferring/removing criminal property.

He pleaded guilty to the fraud and theft offences at a previous hearing at Oxford Crown Court on October 28 last year and pleaded guilty to the remaining offence last Friday.

The bus company's managing director, Phil Southall, said: "We were deeply shocked and disappointed when we discovered Mr Smart had betrayed the trust we put in him over the 28 years that he had worked for the company.

"We will be robustly seeking to retrieve as much of the money that was taken as we can."

Mr Southall stressed that the company's systems and procedures "have been further tightened", adding: "This is an extremely rare act executed by someone who exploited a loophole that only someone in his position could have discovered."

Brexit bus stopping in Oxford on 'true cost' tour

A BUS emblazoned with 'Brexit to cost £2 800million a week' will park up in Oxford's Broad Street on Monday.

The tour bus, which mocks Vote Leave's campaign-winning red bus that claimed the UK sends the EU £350million a week, will pass through the city as part of a national 33-stop tour.

It will be decorated with figures based on a leaked government report which claimed a hard Brexit would cost the country five per cent of GDP after 15 years.

This is an estimate of the loss of GDP relative to where the economy would have been without Brexit and adds up to more than £1100bn in today's money.

"To put this in context, that is 80 per cent of the NHS budget across the UK," Charles Seaford, one of the organisers, said.

Pro-EU group Oxford for Europe said it is worried about the 'endangered Cowley car industry and the 'at risk' nuclear research at Culham.

The aim of the tour is to get 'soft leave' and undecided voters to ask themselves 'is it worth it?'

The 'Brexit is it worth it' Bus will be outside Balliol College at 2.45pm. The public event starts at 2.15pm.

Douglas House 'rescue mission' unlikely despite strong support

By George Welch

HELEN & Douglas House has said it is "enormously grateful" to the thousands of people who have rallied to save one of its two houses – but stressed it is 'highly unlikely' any rescue mission would be successful.

Our charity of the year expressed its gratitude this week after announcing it will close Douglas House its adult care centre in East Oxford, in August.

The announcement sparked a widespread campaign for government funding, and, as we went to press 46,332 people had signed a petition to 'Save Douglas House

But while the hospice is thankful of the support, Helen & Douglas House emphasised the closure "cannot be reversed in the short term"

Director of fundraising and marketing Hazel Bedford said that even with government money it would not be enough to backtrack on the closure.

A fresh plea asking people to donate more regularly to ensure the survival of Helen House, which provides specialist palliative care for terminally ill children and young people aged 0-18 years old, was made this week.

"We are enormously grateful for the support we have received from our supporters and our families to try and keep Douglas House open," Ms Bedford said.

"Sadly from our perspective the decision to close Douglas House cannot be reversed in the short term without new substantial, sustainable means year-on-year of over £2million a year

"Even if Oxfordshire Clinical Commissioning Group give us a contribution to the care of patients from Oxfordshire this will not be enough to keep Douglas House open and is not guaranteed year-on year"

Ms Bedford stressed the closure was "a last resort" and the charity was "acutely aware of the impact on lives of young adults and their families"

She added. "We do not underestimate the effect this decision will have on everyone and we are truly sorry for this

"The choice was between closing part of the service now or doing nothing and allowing the entire service to close in a couple of years We could not allow this to happen."

Helen & Douglas' fundraising efforts are now focused on securing the long term future of Hefan House, which provides specialist palliative care for terminally ill children and young people up to the age of 18, such as the Smith family, pictured here enjoying a craft session

Uni staff on strike

STAFF from Oxford University are expected to go on strike today (Thursday) as part of a wave of strikes hitting 64 universities across the UK in a row over pensions.

As many as 42,000 staff at 64 institutions will walk out today and tomorrow in the first of 14 days of strikes that run until March 26

There will be no 'make-up' classes or lectures for students

Oxford Brookes staff are unaffected.

Brothers jailed

TWO brothers have been jailed for 10 months after handling £2,000 worth of presents stolen from an Oxford home on Christmas Eve.

Daniel Webb, 34, and Matthew Webb, 36, both of no fixed address, denied burglary but admitted handling stolen goods

Five bin bags of wrapped gifts toys and clothes were taken from a house in Walton Street Jericho on December 24.

Prosecutors accepted the pleas and not guilty verdicts for the initial count of burglary

Store's security plan

WANTAGE Waitrose wants to install a number plate recognising camera and a ram raid-proof bollard in its car park following a series of ram raids at supermarkets across Oxfordshire to steal cash machines.

Chickens rescued

RABBITS and chickens made it out unscathed after a fire at a farm in Preston Crowmarsh, near Wallingford, tore through storage buildings

The animals were moved to safety by firefighters who battled the blaze at 7 30pm on Thursday last week.

Station manager Gary D anger said. "Our crews worked really hard to make sure that the animals weren t affected by the fire and to try and save as much of the property as possible "

A number of storage sheds poultry runs and stables were engulfed in flames by the time crews from Wallingford, Didcot, Abingdon and Kidlington were on the scene.

Most of the structures were empty and on one was hurt. Specialist fire investigators and the police are still looking into the cause.

BAFTA night glam

ACTRESS Florence Pugh took to the red carpet on Sunday night for the Bafta Film Awards

The 22-year old former St Edward's Cokethorpe and Wychwood schools pupil was one of five nominees for the Rising Star award.

The prize was won by Daniel Kaluuya, who impressed critics for his role in horror film Get Out

Pugh was one of many stars who wore black to the ceremony in support of s campaign against sexual harassment in the industry

Thames Valley Police's recording of crime 'inadequate' as Sponsorship an option for future of the Force horses

PLANS to restore the classic British police helmet to Oxfordshire's frontline officers uniforms have been slammed as "style over substance"

Thames Valley Police and Crime Commissioner Anthony Stansfeld recently said the helmets – which could cost around £30,000 to reintroduce in the Thames Valley – would give officers "status" and boost visibility

City councillor Tom Hayes said the commissioner should "think again" before bringing back police helmets for "practically the same cost as a full-time PCSO for a year"

He added: "The Police and Crime Commissioner s plan to boost visibility is a triumph of style over substance

"You don't get visible policing by putting on helmets, you get it by putting more officers on the streets

"When St Clement's residents ask what they're going to see get better for paying an extra £12 on council tax, I have to tell them, nothing.

"The monies raised ensure the police won t face deeper cuts when the police really need extra investment "

A trial of helmets is currently taking place in Reading

A spokesperson for Thames Valley Police said, "The Force keeps uniform needs under review to ensure it continues to meet policing requirements

"This and the views of the Police and Crime Commissioner will also inform this process of deciding any changes to officers' uniforms."

POLICE could have to resort to sponsorship to save the mounted section after the chief constable of Thames Valley Police refused to offer reassurances on the unit s future

Scrapping the division in its entirety by 2019 was considered by the Force at a recent budget meeting in response to financial pressures

An increase in the police portion of council tax spared the horses but a review of its long term future continues – and sponsorship is a possible solution

Chief Constable Francis Habgood met the mounted section earlier this month but, despite acknowledging its role in policing, could not assure its long-term future.

In a statement last week he said: "We agreed that over the next few months they will collate additional data around their deployments the income they generate from other forces and their costs.

"They will also explore opportunities for using special constables within the team and further funding streams, for example through sponsorship. We agreed that we would meet again in October"

A petition urging the Force to retain its horses has picked up more than 1,200 signatures

Mr Habgood added: "I have made no promises about the mounted section

Sexual offences among the crimes unrecorded

By George Welch

THOUSANDS of reported crimes including rape assault and domestic abuse are going unrecorded by Thames Valley Police, a watchdog has warned.

A damning report, published by Her Majesty s Inspectorate of Constabulary last week, branded the Force as inadequate in its accuracy of recording crimes adding that many victims are being let down.

The assessment of the sub-region, which includes Buckinghamshire and Berkshire as well as Oxfordshire, found that nearly one in five offences (19 6 per cent) were not properly recorded, equating to approximately 35,200 crimes a year

Crimes that are going unrecorded by the Force include sexual offences, domestic abuse and rape

Inspector Zoe Billingham said: "I am disappointed with the quality of crime recording in Thames Valley

"Although the Force has implemented the recommendations from our previous crime recording inspection in 2014, we found that

Deputy Police and Crime Commissioner Matthew Barber

almost one in five crimes in Thames Valley are not being recorded properly – that equates to approximately 35 200 crimes a year

"I am satisfied that the Force works very hard to ensure that victims of crime, especially vulnerable victims, are safeguarded.

"It now needs to ensure that it records crimes at the earliest opportunity and that there is proper supervision of crime recording decisions"

TVP records around 80 per cent of crimes reported to it, yet thousands of crimes each year go unrecorded.

Inspectors found that 13 900 (30 8 per cent) reports of violent crime, 22 (12 6 per cent) reports of rape and 490 (9 8 per cent) reports of sex offences go inaccurately recorded each year

TVP said it "fully accepts" the grading by HMICFRS and will address concerns raised

Deputy Chief Constable John Campbell said the report "makes for unwelcome reading," adding: ' We accept the findings of HMICFRS and will be working hard over the coming months to ensure that we address their concerns"

Deputy Police and Crime Commissioner Matthew Barber said it is "vital" that victims are supported appropriately when reporting a crime, adding that he was "disappointed" with the report findings.

He added, "Clearly there is work that needs to be done by Thames Valley Police to improve the level and accuracy of crime recording."

The crimes analysed were between February 1 and July 31 last year

Two men sought after knife threat to boy aged 14

A 14 year-old was threatened at knifepoint by two men who demanded to be let into his home.

The incident took place in Abingdon on February 12 at around 9pm down the alleyway connecting Preston Road to Saxton Road.

Two men approached the boy and asked to be let into his house.

When the boy said no they assaulted him before threatening him with a knife.

The pair then fled the scene

The boy suffered injuries to his face but did not require hospital treatment.

Police are now appealing for information.

The first offender is described as a white man, aged between his late teens and early twenties, around 5ft tall, of large build with short brown hair and light facial hair He had a deep voice and was wearing a dark coloured coat with a fur lined hood and jogging bottoms

The second offender is also described as a white man in his late teens or early twenties. He is approximately 5ft 7ins tall, slim with short dark hair He was wearing a black hooded top black trousers and a yellow JD bag with drawstrings

Contact police on 101 quoting reference number 43180045924 if you have any information about the assault.

Helping to launch job opportunities

Pop-up business school for all

By Eva Astreinidou

PEOPLE in social housing across Oxfordshire need to be given the tools to thrive, not just survive.

That is the vision behind several projects that are being launched by housing association Soha.

The community-focussed housing provider is now in the fourth year of running its employment training programme Launchpad.

The scheme has gone from strength to strength and is expanding beyond just its tenants to help people think about their options for employment and to support them in taking their next step.

Last week, the provider announced its plans to help launch a pop-up business school at the Orchard Centre in Didcot for a week starting March 19.

Working alongside start-up training company PopUp Soha hopes to help start more than 50 businesses.

The week long, free workshop will teach aspiring entrepreneurs everything they need to know from how to start a business without any money, how to generate sales from social media, to making a website without any technical skills.

Soha's chief executive Richard Peacock said: "I'm really proud that Soha is a community based social business. This is a great step forward for our Launchpad project which has already supported many local people to gain valuable experience and skills."

The programme has been backed by South Oxfordshire and Vale district councils.

Also backed by the European Social Fund and Skills Funding Agency, the free Launchpad programme has enabled more than 100 people to take their next step and gain access to courses and mentoring, learn new skills and gain employment.

This spring, the programme is set to launch two different courses in addition to the PopUp school.

Play-Way, a course that will support people who want to work with children, will be held at the Berin Centre in Berinsfield on February 28, March 7 and 14 from 9.30am to 1.30pm.

In addition, there will be a course inviting people to learn what it is like to work in the care sector – this will be held at the Soha boardroom in Didcot on March 12, 19 and 26 between 9.30am and 2.30pm.

Helping Baby to grow up

A TINY kitten found abandoned in a cardboard box by some shop bins in Carterton has found a new home.

Five-week-old Baby was found all alone by a passing cyclist who heard her desperate meows.

She was taken to Burford animal charity Blue Cross who, as well as naming the kitty gave her some much-needed TLC.

Baby was very thin, covered in fleas and terrified by even the smallest noise or movement, which staff put down to her "terrifying experience" of being dumped outside in the cold.

She is now in the loving care of one of their foster carers where she will grow in confidence in a home environment before being put up for rehoming.

Her foster carer Stacey Calladine said: "When Baby first arrived she was worried by even the smallest noise or movement but taking things at her own pace she has really come out of her shell.

"She is now a bold, brave and friendly kitten who we are very happy to see go off to a loving new home."

Jenna Martyn, senior rehoming manager at Blue Cross, urged people to take animals in the charity if they feel they can no longer look after them. She stressed staff do not judge when animals need to be rehomed.

Blue Cross can be contacted on 0300 777 1570.

Cornbury line-up

ICONIC 90s singer Alanis Morissette has been announced as the first headliner of this year's revived Cornbury Festival.

Mavis Staples, Amy MacDonald, Nina Nesbitt and Pixie Lott also join the line-up for the 15th instalment set to entertain festival goers on the weekend of Friday July 13.

Megan McKenna, P.P Arnold, Grainne Duffy Kolars, Southern Avenue, Teo Millenia and The Adelaides complete the list of artists confirmed for Saturday.

The rest of the Cornbury line-up will be announced on March 1.

The festival announced late last year it was making an unexpected return to Great Tew Park near Chipping Norton after initially declaring 2017 would be the last one.

Saturday tickets and weekend tickets went on sale last week at cornburyfestival.com

Growth deal backed

MORE councils have given their backing to the government's £215million Oxfordshire Housing and Growth Deal.

Vale of White Horse District Council cabinet recommended agreeing the deal that could secure £150m of infrastructure funding and £60m for affordable housing.

West Oxfordshire District Council also backed the deal that would support the delivery of around 100 000 homes and deliver major upgrades in key areas such as the A40.

The ambulance service is asking drivers to slow down after attending this incident in Wheatley

Take care on icy roads plea

MOTORISTS have been warned to slow down on icy roads after this driver in Wheatley ended upside down.

Police and paramedics were called to the accident on Sworford Lane after the driver lost control of his car flipped over and ended up on the grass verge.

The incident happened shortly before 7.30am on Friday

South Central Ambulance Service (SCAS) tweeted the picture and said. "Take extra care as it is icy in our region. The driver of this car in rural Oxfordshire had a lucky escape earlier and was uninjured. Slow down."

SCAS confirmed the driver escaped unharmed after the single-vehicle collision at the top of the hill near the Little Milton turn off.

Temperatures across Oxfordshire have plummeted again this week.

Thousands experience earth tremor

PARTS of Oxfordshire shook on Saturday afternoon as a magnitude 4.6 earthquake hit south Wales

Tremors from the seismic shaker in Cwmllynfell near Swansea could be felt further north than Leeds and as far east as Suffolk, rumbling through Oxfordshire at around 2.30pm.

The British Geological Survey received reports from several thousand people who felt the quake.

BGS said. "Events of this magnitude only happen in the UK every two to three years."

The earthquake is the largest on mainland Britain since a magnitude 5.2 quake struck in February 2008.

Helping children cope with death

By George Welch

A NEW initiative launched by an Oxfordshire hospice hopes to help youngsters across the county deal with death.

Sobell House's project wants to open up end of life discussions with children in Years 2 to 5.

The Churchill Hospital-based hospice hopes it will help children, teachers, carers and parents better understand dying death and bereavement.

Tim Harrison, clinical lead for Sobell House and consultant in palliative medicine, said. "The issue of not knowing what to say to children when they lose someone often leads to adults saying nothing at all, which can result in a child feeling more isolated and alone.

"Our schools project looks to change this

"We want to open up the discussion and help teachers carers and parents understand how the subject should be approached with children when it's needed to be."

The education programme is in conjunction with the annual national Dying Matters campaign which runs from May 14-20

Each participating school will receive a resources pack with specially designed lesson plans developed by Katie Hannaford, a Year 4 teacher at St John's School in Wallingford.

The teacher, who lost her dad aged 22, said "I've had bereaved children in my classroom and it has been very difficult to know how best to support them and how the matter should be managed with the individual in mind, but also the whole class.

"It breaks my heart to think of a child going through a bereavement and not knowing how to talk about it."

According to Gary Kycroft, chair of the Dying Matters Forum, 20,000 young people in full-time education will lose a parent or sibling while thousands more will lose grandparents, other family members, friends and pets

He said "This initiative is really helping overcome that problem and offering a solution to the challenge we all face when experiencing death of a loved one."

Dying Matters Week will finish with a fundraising 5k For get Me Not family run at Starfield Brake in Kidlington.

as a Single Atom In An Ion Tap"

The image, shot using a normal digital camera on a long exposure is a result of an experiment that Mr Nadlinger and his team are working on – the development of quantum computing using laser-manipulated trapped ions

Mr Nadlinger said "The idea of being able to see a single atom with the naked eye had struck me as a wonderfully direct and visceral bridge between the miniscule quantum world and our macroscopic reality

"When I set off to the lab with camera and tripods one quiet Sunday afternoon I was rewarded with this particular picture of a small, pale blue dot."

Oxford in the frame for share of £6m cycle cash

By Owen Hughes

OXFORD has been chosen as one of eight cities in the running to receive cash to make it a safer place for cyclists

The government has launched a £6 5million fund to pay for schemes including segregated cycle paths and improved junctions.

The funding is part of the Department for Transport (DfT) cycling review announced in September 2017

The seven other cities invited to bid for a share of the fund are Cambridge, Birmingham, Bristol, Leeds Norwich, Manchester and Newcastle

Robin Tucker, chair of the Oxfordshire Cycling Network, said although the investment is "good news for Oxford" the announcement should be met with a certain degree of caution.

He said. "Oxford is one of the smaller of those cities so it will probably get a bit less than one eighth of the money maybe about half a million pounds I suppose..so we have to be reasonably cautious about what we expect for that "I would expect the council to pick a junction and maybe one part of a priority route within the Oxford Transport Plan for improvements.

"Having cycle lanes is one thing but you've really got to make sure the cycling provision is continuous and safe across the junctions

"Getting the right details in the design at the junctions traffic lights and roundabouts is really important."

A further £500 000 will be set aside by the government to support Cycling UK's big bike revival initiative to encourage more people to cycle safely

Cycling minister Jesse Norman said. "Everyone should be able to take advantage of the huge health and environmental benefits of cycling

"While Britain has some of the safest roads in the world, we want to encourage more people to take up cycling.

"This funding, as part of our overall cycling and walking strategy will help local councils to make their roads safer for everyone."

Robin added that cycling groups have "built up a much better relationship" with councils in recent years and would help to work out the types of improvements that could benefit cyclists the most and make cycling safer for everyone

Student took drugs before Westgate fall

AN Oxford University student fell to his death from the Westgate Centre after taking drugs.

Max Mian, 19 pictured, was found dead on the morning of October 2 a day after the classics student had arrived in Oxford for his second year of studies.

His body was discovered a short distance from the John Lewis store by construction workers.

Last week at Oxford Coroners Court, Oxfordshire coroner Darren Salter delivered a verdict of accidental death.

The inquest heard how on the evening of October 1 Max and friends went out to The Swan and Castle pub in Castle Street, where he took ketamine.

After the pub, Mr Mian returned to his shared accommodation at Frewin Annex in St Michael's Street where he played on the PlayStation going to bed in the early hours of October 2

Mr Mian was spotted on CCTV leaving the flat at 3 25am.

It is believed he climbed the John Lewis building from the outside

His body was discovered by workers shortly before 7am.

The inquest heard how Mr Mian had scaled buildings in the past and had also expressed a desire to enter the construction site before.

Charity of the year 2018 – Helen & Douglas House

Full of beans at amount raised

By George Welch

TWO daring teachers from a Wheatley school took advantage of the re-sauces available to them to raise money for terminally ill children, young adults and their families

Pupils and fellow members of staff at Chilworth House Upper School enjoyed pouring beans over teaching assistant Michael Wood and deputy head and science teacher Gareth Smith while they laid in a bath to raise money for Helen & Douglas House, our charity of the year

The Thame Road school raised £257 with a jam-packed day of fundraising at the end of last term.

Mr Smith and Mr Wood willingly volunteered to sit in a bath tub and have baked beans poured over them. Students and staff members paid 20p a can to toss the beans over them.

Michael Wood and left, Gareth Smith took part in the beans in the bath challenge

Andrew Hemming, from the school, said the money was raised for Helen & Douglas House because the east Oxford charity "is such an incredible" organisation.

He added: "Our school loved fundraising for a great charity and hope the money gets used to make a little one's life more enjoyable.

"It was such an amazing achievement and a huge thanks to all the staff and students who took part and raised this much money for this great charity."

Staff and students bought and gobbled up cakes, flapjacks and brownies baked by the food technology department as part of the fundraising activities. A game to guess the amount of sweets in the jar, a raffle and a Santa fun run also added to the entertainment.

Lucy Walker, from Helen & Douglas House, said: "We are delighted that Chilworth House Upper School has raised this money for us. They organise some great fun fundraising events. This money will help local terminally ill children live life to the full and allow us to give their families the help and support they need."

A NEW puffin crossing will be built on Banbury Road, just north of the junction with Hernes Road in Oxford.

Right turns from Hernes Road into Banbury Road will be prohibited but it is not yet known when the crossing will be built.

Rewarded for healthy eating efforts

RESTAURANTS and cafes in north Oxfordshire were recognised for going above and beyond in providing nutritious and healthy food for their customers.

Eat Out Eat Well organised by Cherwell District Council has presented its first set of winners with gold, silver and bronze awards at Bloxham Mill.

Prodrive and Reg's Café from Banbury, Copper Kitchen and Savoir Fare from Bicester, The Stables from Bodicote and Mulberry Cafe in Cropredy all scooped gold in the first round of awards.

Blue Apple Catering in Banbury received a silver award and The Black Bull in Launton received bronze.

Cllr Kieron Mallon, Cherwell's lead member for public protection, said: "We want to recognise the businesses that are doing their best to encourage a nutritious diet both in the quality of their cooking, and how they promote it to their customers."

Food caterers in the district can apply for an Eat Out Eat Well assessment to be considered for an award – the caterers are assessed on the food on offer, cooking methods and how healthy options are marketed to customers.

The winners have their names recorded in a national database which people can check before choosing where to go for a meal or takeaway.

Focus on Footsteps Foundation

Life-changing physio to aid children's lives

Children's disability charity Footsteps Foundation was one of the many charities to be nominated for our charity of the year. Here, foundation manager Maggie Davies reveals all about the Dorchester-based charity and its upcoming projects

Mission

Our mission is to improve the quality of life for children effected by neurological disorders, enabling them to receive the intensive physiotherapy they need.

Since our beginnings in 2008 we have spent £1.4million on 25,000 hours of specialist, life-changing physiotherapy. We have helped 237 individual children, intensively over many years.

In our 10th year of operation, Footsteps Foundation is launching three new projects: The Equipment Fund, to help buy new equipment for our gyms, the Home from Home Fund, to help families who travel from further afield to pay for accommodation and The Music Therapy Project.

Therapy

Footsteps therapy is innovative and unique to the UK. It combines traditional methods of therapy with a specialist piece of equipment that originates from Poland.

The 'Spider' is a simple metal frame with elastics and harnesses that supports the child in a Spider's web, giving freedom of movement and allowing them to maintain positions they would not normally be able to achieve.

The Spider is central to Footsteps therapy and our therapists carry out a full range of exercises which improves muscle tone, coordination and core strength.

Therapists measure our results and children have achieved many advances in general mobility, standing, walking and fine and gross motor skills through Footsteps therapy often significantly exceeding medical expectations.

The need

The majority of children we support have cerebral palsy or are affected by other neurological disorders. Movements we take for granted, such as walking, standing, sitting and crawling can be exceptionally difficult.

Due to restraints on the NHS, disabled children typically only receive one or two hours of physiotherapy each month.

An important factor with Footsteps therapy is the intensity: 1-3 hours per day for three weeks, multiple times throughout the year.

Many of the children who need intensive physiotherapy the most come from families who are least able to afford it.

We believe there is a fundamental need to support these families and to help disabled children develop the skills necessary to reach their own unique personal potential.

Families thanks:

"Cerys had never taken an independent step before attending a session at footsteps; she was very weak in her legs and core, had poor balance and little confidence. In Cerys's first three week session at Footsteps she took her first independent steps, something we had been told she would never manage!

"Everyone in Abbie's life is amazed at the progress this time. There is always a marked improvement but the difference this has made to her life this time has been phenomenal. It is the difference between experiencing the world lying flat on her back and engaging with it sat up, able to see all around her and get where she wants to go."

Children such as Mattas on the treadmill, top left, and below, Sienna receiving treatment help from Gosia and Gia are just two of those who have been helped by Footstseps Foundation over the last 10 years – the charity is now launching a fundraising programme for three new projects

Never a dull day in all his 25 years

By George Welch

FROM lumbering cumbersome equipment around to using state-of-the-art technology and having wider responsibility a lot has changed in the fire service over the last quarter of a century

Few know that more than Grahame Mitchell, pictured, who this year is celebrating his 25th year in the service

The assistant chief fire officer was recruited to Oxfordshire Fire and Rescue Service in 1992 after completing a five year engineering apprenticeship and deciding to follow a 'long-term' dream of becoming a firefighter– and there has not been a dull day since

"Not everyone can say that they have saved a life or that they still want to be in the same profession for this long," Grahame, whose first posting was to White Watch at Rewley Road in Oxford, said.

Over the past 25 years, Grahame has seen a 'huge societal change in that nearly all homes have working smoke alarms and car design and safety systems are improving.

The county council also believes that traffic accidents 'will be a thing of the past' as autonomous driving advances.

Pivotal to the service s evolution is the development of technology

Grahame said "When I started we used to have to use very heavy and cumbersome equipment and relied only on our senses to find our way through smoke filled buildings

"Now we have lightweight breathing apparatus and thermal imaging technology so we can deal with fires even more efficiently"

The modern day fire service is "a lot more than responding to emergencies" and sometimes that takes its toll, Grahame said.

He added. "We have a real skill in responding to floods and in recent years we have seen adverse weather start to impact on our county and its residents, flooding is equally as distressing as experiencing a fire

"We assist and can get people to safety but to see their homes destroyed and all that devastation, it stays with you.

"With natural disasters it's always astonishing, the impact they can have, turning people s lives upside down."

Aspiring to help disadvantaged

By Owen Hughes

THERE are no signs of the wheels coming off an Oxford-based charity that helps disadvantaged people back into work after opening its workshop doors to a cycle repair centre.

Aspire Oxfordshire announced the deal to share its workshop facilities with social enterprise Broken Spoke Bike Co-op on Wednesday

Broken Spoke, in Pembroke Street, Oxford, helps people become more proficient in riding and bike maintenance and will begin sharing the workshop space from spring

Broken Spoke's director Sam said "Everyone is excited about the new workshop We're being asked about it by volunteers customers and folk from all over Oxford and Oxfordshire.

"We can't wait to join the community on Osney Lane and we're really looking forward to sharing resources to continue to transform and empower our communities Be ready to be amazed by the myriad different uses of an old inner tube."

The deal coincides with a recent grant from The Tambour Foundation to expand the charity's services to work with ex-military personnel in addition to the support it gives to offenders

Aspire's Through The Gate project currently offers work experience programmes for offenders like Terry, who approached the charity on release from HMP Bullingdon.

Terry received training and housing advice from Aspire and last week was awarded a permanent contract for his job at University College, Oxford.

Caroline Winn joined Aspire in December after the project was expanded to support ex-military clients.

She said, "At Aspire we recognise that it is very challenging for military families who have transitioned from military life to civilian life to know where to go for help locally

"I'll be working closely with welfare staff on the military bases military charities and other local community organisations to break down barriers and allow ex-military clients to thrive in the local community"

Mini car, walking and beer attractions scoop visitor awards

OXFORDSHIRE is clearly the place to be after a trio of attractions scooped accolades for quality visitor experiences.

Cowley's MINI Plant Oxford Official Walking Tours and Witney's Wychwood Brewery Tours were recognised last week by tourist board VisitEngland for outstanding experiences they provide

Eighty-six attractions across the country received accolades after being judged on criteria from story telling to food and drink and customer service. VisitEngland inspectors assess the tourist sites annually

The MINI plant and Oxford Official Walking Tours were honoured in the Best Told Story category while Wychwood Brewery Tours was acknowledged in both the Hidden Gem and Welcome categories.

Martin Walker head of marketing and development at Experience Oxfordshire the visitor information service that runs the walking tours, said the team behind them is "delighted" to be recognised.

He added. "It's a great achievement and reflects the professionalism and dedication of our walking tour guides who share their knowledge and passion for the city's history and heritage with thousands of visitors every year"

VisitEngland director Andrew Stokes said "These attractions offer a warm welcome unique story telling, high quality food and drink and unparalleled customer service and rightly deserve these accolades."

Spring dance festival comes to city

By Samantha McGregor

OXFORD S annual spring dance festival is gearing up ta lake the city by storm next month

Organisers of The 2018 Dancin Oxford festival boast this year is "probably the best yet" with more professional companies taster sessions and "extraordinary aerial performances on the new Westgate Shopping Centre façade

Now in its 12th year the event is funded by Oxford City Council and Arts Council England and runs across the county from March 2 to 11

Claire Thompsnn, Oxford City Council s dance officer said "Each festival has its strengths and this spring one is no different.

"I am delighted that we have now engaged with venues all over the county with a wide variety of performances that should suit all tastes

"For our annual free event in Oxford city centre we are upending the dance floor for a series of aerial performances danced to a driving musical score What a treat."

Among the performers is Gravity & Levity an aerial dance company, who will upend the dance floor to view the city from a whole new perspective when dancers scale the Westgate Shopping Centre façade lo dance up down and across to a lively musical score on March 10

The annual Moving with the Times comprises of three specially commissioned pieces by Dancin Oxford and Pegasus and features Oxford performers Joelle Pappas Lunas Dance and Orley & Sermet The themes range from an exploration of altitudes and behaviours to motherhood

The other two big shows this year are Gecko s The Wedding al the Oxford Playhouse from March 1 to 3 and Tango Moderno starring Vincent Simone and Flavia Cacace which is staged at the New Theatre from March 5 to 8

The North Wall plays host to four dance performances including the return of the popular children s dance company Peut-Etre Theatre with a new show Tidy Up, an March 10

Outside the city The Mill in Banbury will host J&D Acrobats Knol on March 9 and Cornerstone Didcot showcases New Art Club's Cupid's Revenge on March 10

Noel flies in with his birds

THE final headline act for Oxfordshire music festival Nocturne has been announced as Noel Gallagher

Multi million-selling Oasis star Gallagher will perform on Friday June 15 at the Blenheim Palace concert series

It comes after a string of international stars have already been announced including Gary Barlow who is due to headline the event's closing show Elvis Costello Nile Rodgers & Chic, The Waterboys and Nick Lowe

Nocturne returns to Blenheim's 10,000-capacity Great Court for a four-day musical extravaganza from June 14 to 17

As guitarist and principal songwriter of legendary rock band Oasis, Noel had eight UK number one singles, eight UK number one albums and won six Brit Awards

His solo performances feature a mix of solo material alongside a selection of Oasis hits

Noel will perform and his High Flying Birds touring band, which consists of former Oasis guitarist Gem Archer, former Oasis session pianist Mike Rowe, former Oasis drummer Chris Sharrock and The Zutons bassist Russell Pritchard

Tickets for this concert start at £45 and are on sale now to book view nocturnelive.com

Carrying a third pint glass – the true mark of a genius

STAND-up veteran Simon Evans, known for his thought-provoking performances, is bringing his wit and wisdom to Chipping Norton Theatre.

He will appear on Saturday March 3, as part of his Genius tour, coming from his success at the Edinburgh Festival.

This performance will see him explore what is genius? Is it a high IQ? A ruthless disregard for convention? Any ploy used successfully to carry a third pint glass without spilling it? Or something else?

Well whatever it is, it seems to be in desperately short supply in public life at present, according to Simon.

Evans is a familiar face with appearances on Live at the Apollo, Michael McIntyre's Roadshow and the Edinburgh Gala amongst others.

Demonstrating his genius in more conventional form he appeared on University Challenge: The Professionals in 2007, in a team narrowly beaten by eventual series winners the Ministry of Justice. He was also a contestant on Celebrity Mastermind where his specialist subject was Ernest Shackleton.

Simon is a regular on Radio 4 with four series of his own show Simon Evans Goes to Market already broadcast, the fifth currently transmitting and more in the pipeline.

He also writes for various other TV shows and comedians and recently The Daily Telegraph giving his views on Brexit as a subject for comedy.

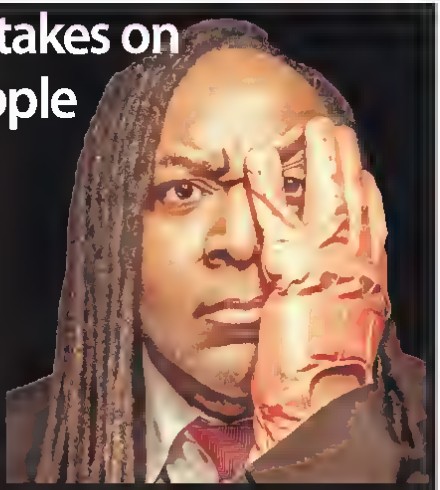
Reginald takes on some people



COMEDIAN Reginald D Hunter, who is known for his honest and often controversial approach, is coming to the Oxford Playhouse.

He brings his latest show 'Some people Vs Reginald D Hunter' to Oxford on March 6 as part of a nationwide tour.

Originally from America, Reginald now lives and performs in the UK.

He came to England to study acting at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art, but after completing a comedy set as a dare he found his vocation.

Having been in the UK for nearly two decades he has become one of comedy's best-known performers for his distinctive take on subjects including race and sexuality.

His work is described as "brutally honest" and is often considered to be controversial, unafraid to face challenging issues head on, even when the focus is on his own principles or beliefs.

Reginald is a well-known face on primetime television shows such as 8 Out Of 10 Cats, Never Mind The Buzzcocks and QI and is a frequent guest on Have I Got News For You.

He also made the popular three-part BBC2 series Reginald D Hunter's Songs Of The South.

The support act for the evening Pete Johansson, whose hit solo Edinburgh show Naked Pictures of My Life garnered rave reviews and bagged him a nomination for Best Newcomer at the Edinburgh Comedy Awards.

Pete has appeared on many shows including The Late Late Show, Russell Howard's Good News on BBC3, Comedy Central's Live at the Comedy Store and Best of the Fest on Channel 4, as well as having his own Netflix special.

Tickets for Reginald D Hunter at Oxford Playhouse are £25 and are available from the box office on 01865 305305 or go to oxfordplayhouse.com

Earl Grey & Gin Cured Salmon

Gin is all the rage and not just as a drink so why not try it with salmon and Earl Grey for a sumptuously smokey flavour as in this recipe from Roger Williams head chef of The Maytime Inn at Asthall near Burford

Ingredients:

For the cured salmon

3 teaspoons loose leaf Earl Grey divided
1/2 cup caster sugar
1/2 cup coarse sea salt
Black pepper for sprinkling
1 side salmon
1 fluid ounce gin
Juice from 1/2 orange

For the citrus cream

5 ounces creme fraiche
Juice from 1/2 orange
1 teaspoon wholegrain mustard
A few sprigs of dill finely chopped
Sea salt to taste
Freshly ground black pepper to taste

1 loaf of rye bread

Method:

Boil the kettle and pour the water over half the loose leaf tea – just enough to moisten the leaves.

Mix the sugar, salt, pepper and remaining tea together in a bowl and sprinkle a thin layer into the bottom of the baking dish.

Cut the salmon into 2 large pieces. If you don't have a baking dish big enough, you can cut the salmon into manageable fillets. Lay one side of salmon in the dish, skin side down and sprinkle the cure all over. Then lay the other side skin side up, on top of the salmon and sprinkle the remaining cure all over.

Pour the orange juice, gin and tea over the salmon.

Add a layer of plastic wrap over the dish and place the chopping board or dish on top of the fish. Add the cans and refrigerate. Every day turn the salmon fillets over and baste with any liquid in the tray.

The salmon will be ready after 48 hours, although could be left up to 72 hours for a slightly stronger cure.

Make the cream 1 hour or so before serving. In a mixing bowl add the creme fraiche, orange juice, mustard, and dill. Mix until flavours are combined and season to taste.

When ready to serve, remove the salmon from the cure, rinse gently under cold water, scrape off any tea leaves and pat dry. Slice salmon as thin as possible and serve.

FENCING FEATURE ADVERTISEMENT

Get ready for Winter

Now's the perfect time to replace your garden fence once and for all. Anna Ryder Richardson - Designer and Television Presenter - takes a closer look at Colourfence, the revolutionary low-maintenance system

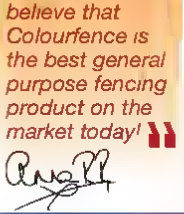
It's been ten years since I regularly graced TV screens helping transform people's living spaces with MDF and stripped floorboards. Recently it's been more "celebrity mock out" than "celebrity make-over" as I took up the challenge of owning my own Wildlife Zoo in Tenby. In this time I've learnt quite a lot about fences and having researched the various options for my own benefit I thought I would share my knowledge with a wider audience.

The latest design processes mean there is now a tremendous array of fencing products for you to choose from - constructed from a variety of materials. Each has its own attributes and ultimately it can often come down to a matter of personal preference. For me there was one unique system that stood out as providing the best balance between price and functionality which eradicates fencing problems for good. Or for at least 25 years. Colourfence. For quality value, longevity, aesthetic design - this fencing system ticks all the boxes. Fencing made for the 21st century that will transform the look of your garden which is supplied and fitted by a company whose customer service is as good as the product.

In my view Colourfence is the Rolls Royce of fencing - just without the exclusive price tag. What's more - it's guaranteed to stay in place in up to 130mph winds and is virtually maintenance free.

To find out how the experts from Colourfence might help you, I suggest you call 01865 582 171 and speak to their team.

"I honestly believe that Colourfence is the best general purpose fencing product on the market today!"



Gardeners' Questions

Q Wooden fence panels just don't seem to last - is there a storm resistant alternative?

A The Colourfence system has been tested under cyclonic conditions to withstand storms with wind gusts up to 130mph. Unlike your wooden fence - once professionally installed - Colourfence really will stay up.

Q No matter what I treat my wooden fence with - nothing seems to prevent it rotting or looking shabby for very long

A Treating your fence is a thankless and expensive task. It's also a losing battle. Wood simply wants to rot. Colourfence offers a low-maintenance alternative where by an occasional wash down will keep it looking great for up to 25 years! GUARANTEED!†

Colourfence: The ultimate garden fence?

For many Colourfence is perhaps the ultimate choice. For the last 15 years it's been widely used across the UK and has steadily gained a reputation for its quality. By using the highest specification Colorbond steel in the fence structure itself, complemented by the highest level of customer service from accredited Franchisees, Colourfence is now regarded by many as the premier fencing solution in the market. Immune to the rot and resistant to the weather that so quickly effects wooden fences, Colourfence has none of the drawbacks of wood - plenty of additional benefits and what's more it's better value!

Head into Winter - with COLOURFENCE

The only garden fence you will ever need!

Every gardener knows that it pays to plan ahead. If you are one of the thousands of people who watched helpless, as winter winds battered their garden, it will not be a surprise that garden fences are almost always the first casualty. Whether you have previously patched, painted or simply prayed to keep your fence going, there's no escaping the fact that timber fences will always fall victim to the weather. With Colourfence you can put your garden straight once and for all. Colourfence is scientifically tested and cyclonically rated to ensure when professionally installed, it can withstand wind gusts of up to 130mph. Once it's up – it stays up and is guaranteed to look good year after year. Safe, extra secure and hassle free – you will NEVER need to paint it, treat it or patch it. An occasional hose down will be all you need do to keep it in top condition for years to come. In fact the system is so durable that Colourfence will guarantee† their fencing to last at least 25 years. Available in a range of colours to suit any garden, with or without decorative trellis, the highly skilled installation team make short work of their dramatic transformations. Your sad old fence will be efficiently cleared and replaced, leaving you to get back to enjoying your rejuvenated garden. Pricing is just as straightforward and equally attractive. Starting costs are in line with inferior timber systems but with no annual treatments required, Colourfence saves you time and money each and every year. Their aim is your peace of mind. With a 25 year guarantee† Colourfence speaks for itself and promises a lifetime of hassle-free enjoyment.

Its official.

Hearing aids can do more than improve your hearing.

Following a survey carried out in 2015 by Anovum (a market research company) on 1325 hearing impaired people (605 hearing aid wearers and 720 not wearing hearing aids). The survey reports that hearing aids not only improve capabilities of hearing well but also improved the general health of hearing aid wearers compared to hearing impaired people who do not wear a hearing aid. Hearing aid users are less likely to think they have the symptoms of dementia, feel less physically and mentally exhausted, sleep better and are less likely to suffer from depression.

The survey confirms what some Audiologists have suspected for some time, that hearing aids are not only good for correcting hearing loss but in fact contribute to better and more active lives, better quality of life, and better overall health.

For the hearing impaired workers who wear a hearing aid it is reported that their hearing aids are useful for their job and that the hearing aids also increase the chance of them getting promoted, being in the right job and getting more salary compared to those hearing impaired people who have not obtained hearing aids.

The full report can be found at EuroTrak UK 2015 – ehima

A new hearing system is just the beginning and a hearing aid system is only as good as the audiologist prescribing and programming it.

At Keith Donaghy Hearingcare we offer the best bespoke hearing aid systems virtually unnoticeable fitting comfortably into your ear.

Keith will help you every step of the way whilst you adjust to your new hearing ability, for some this takes months for others a matter of a few weeks but Keith is always on hand to answer questions or give advice on getting the best from your system. The last thing he wants (as is often the case when insufficient aftercare is available) is for your hearing aids to end up in the back of a drawer somewhere, unused because you felt that nothing else could be done to rectify any programming or rehabilitation problems.

Keith wants to know if you have any concerns about your hearing aids, no matter how big or small, so that you and he can work together to achieve your results.

Advertorial

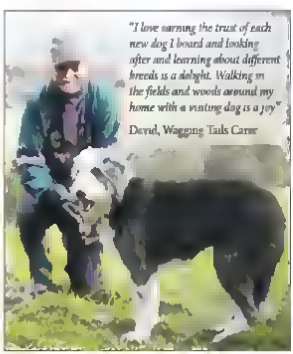
Dogs Needs a Holiday too

As we are a nation renowned for our love of animals, it is not surprising that many dog owners feel uncomfortable at the thought of going away and leaving their best friend behind, especially if kennels are not for them.

Wagging Tails provide a home from home dog boarding service where dogs stay with one of our carefully selected carers as a member of the family for their very own holiday. All of their carers are experienced dog owners and are at home during the day to give the dogs the warmth and comfort they would get at home, along with plenty of exercise and attention.

Dog carers wanted to give dogs a home based holiday. Join our family of dog sitters.

Due to the popularity of our service, they are always interested to hear from dog lovers wishing to join their team of carers.



"I love earning the trust of each new dog I board and looking after and learning about different breeds is a delight. Walking in the fields and woods around my home with a waiting dog is a joy"
David, Wagging Tails Carer

If you have experience of owning a dog but now find yourself without any pets, then providing a loving home by becoming a Wagging Tails carer can be both a fun and rewarding time for you and the dogs in your care. Alternatively perhaps you own one dog who would enjoy the company of a holiday guest!

This role is ideal for someone who is already working from home, house wife/husband or early retired.

And the benefits:

Companionship

You will get all the benefits and company of a dog without the commitment of full time ownership

Healthier Lifestyle

Having a dog to stay obviously means walking, but in addition to this studies have shown that owning a dog can also improve mood, decrease stress, lower blood pressure, ease chronic pain such as migraines and arthritis and lowers cholesterol.

Social

Giving a dog a holiday doesn't mean you only spend time with the dog. You will meet the owners of each dog who stays with you as well as other owners when out walking your guests—something that often leads to good friendship with fellow dog lovers!

Financial

In addition to the all the above benefits you will also receive a fee for welcoming your holiday guests into your home. Whilst it must be stressed that this will not replace a full time income, it can provide our carers with enough to pay for a nice holiday of their own and those little extra luxuries that we all deserve.

If you think you could welcome a dog into your family or would like further information about our services please call Teresa on 07762 132329 or visit www.waggingtailsuk.co.uk or email ox@waggingtailsuk.co.uk

Who Cares?

Spring on the wing

You're never too old to be a bird-watcher, and bird-watching can be done anywhere with a window however mobile or otherwise you are. You can even buy clear plastic bird feeders that fix directly on to the outside of a window with suckers. Just add bird seed and wait as daytime entertainment flies in! Add binoculars to zoom in close – though do remember to check their suitability for older eyes. Because a person's pupils dilate less with age, binoculars for more elderly bird-watchers are less likely to benefit from the light channelled through larger binoculars, and so a lighter mid-sized pair may be best.

It's a great time of year to be bird-watching because winter has past and suddenly we can see the birds clearly before garden foliage grows too thick and dense, and flowers divert attention away from a tree's branches. There is also lots of activity in the air as nest-building commences: even in an urban yard, you can expect to see robins, sparrows, blue tits, blackbirds and other garden birds fly back and forth with twigs and other plant matter. Migrant birds such as the sand martin also fly back to Oxfordshire this month.

Traditional wisdom has, in the past, suggested that with the onset of meteorological spring, whatever the weather, birds should be beginning to fend for themselves and bird watchers should no longer provide a helping hand. But in the bird world, early March can be a time of acute shortages as the last of the berries have long been eaten and, given the human impact of the environment of changes in society over the last generation such as building on swathes of natural land and the removal of hedgerows for modern farming methods, it can be hard for birds to find adequate resources this month so supplementing the diet of local birds can make a real difference to their strength and breeding capacity.

A bird feeder is good for the bird populations as well as bringing them into your view and earshot – and the sound of a bird's call can be very evocative, triggering memories of childhood or past adventures in the great outdoors. For those whose horizons have shrunk over time and sometimes feel caged by circumstance, the chirpy tones from outside the window can be uplifting.

It's a welcome feeling, knowing spring is on its way.

New WIDEX BEYOND Z rechargeable hearing aids

LAST ALL DAY CHARGE AT NIGHT

Because WIDEX BEYOND Z™ has the lowest power consumption of any rechargeable hearing aid, users can experience a full day of the most advanced hearing and superior streaming sound quality, without ever worrying about running out of power.

The advanced ZPower silver-zinc cell holds more power than any other battery of its size and only takes 3-4 hours on average to recharge

TINY HEARING AID
BIG SOUND WINDOW

With any hearing aid, capturing an unchanged and comprehensive sound picture is paramount. Whatever isn't captured by the hearing aid can't be heard by the user. And once sound is compressed, whatever is lost in the compression process can never be regained. That's why WIDEX CUSTOM™ has the largest sound window of any hearing aid in the market (together with WIDEX UNIQUE™ and WIDEX BEYOND™). With a lower limit of 5 dB SPL and an upper limit of 113 dB SPL the WIDEX CUSTOM has a dynamic range of 105 dB.
In addition, the sound window of CUSTOM is linear throughout the entire input range. This eliminates distortion, which means fewer artifacts in noisy environments and allows access to more soft level sounds.

Other benefits

- 4 dedicated A/D converters – deliver full feature functionality with all input types
- 33.1 KHz Sampling – the great amount of sound identification with the broad bandwidth results in the opportunity for the most accurate reproduction of sound.

Oxford Private Rents Average £27.92 per sq. foot

Bill Cooper co-author of The Oxford Property Blog and managing director of Martin and Co, Oxford

Gone are the days of making money by buying any old Oxford property to rent out or sell on Nowadays property investment is part art and part science. The art is your gut reaction to a property but science must also play its part on a property's future viability for investment.

Many metrics most property professionals (including myself) use when deciding the viability of a rental property is what properties are selling for, the average rent, the yield and an average value per square foot.

However another metric I like to use is the average rent per square foot. The reason being it is a great way to judge a property from the point of view of the tenant .. what space do they get for their money Like people buying a property, tenants must balance between better vs. worse location, more vs less money and larger vs smaller accommodation

I know there are a lot of you in Oxford who like to read statistics on the Oxford property market so before I talk about the rental figures per square foot, I wanted to share the £ per square foot for sales values In Oxford, the current AVERAGE figures being achieved by properties are.

- Oxford Detached Property - £472 / sq ft
- Oxford Semi Detached Property - £476 / sq ft
- Oxford Terraced Property - £509 / sq ft
- Oxford Apartments - £537 / sq ft

So the rental figures:

The average size of a rental property in the Oxford area is 833.2 sq ft compared to the national average of 792.1 sq ft.

This means the average rent per square foot currently being achieved on an Oxford rental property is £27.92 per sq ft per annum

So what we can deduce from this? Well the devil is in detail

Something quite intriguing happens to the figures, in terms of what the property will sell for and what it will rent for as the size of the property increases.

My research shows that doubling the size of any Oxford property doesn't mean you will double the value of it in either value or rent. This is because the marginal value diminishes as the size of the property increases In Oxford what appears to happen is that a doubling of size gives an approximate 40% to 65% uplift in value, but here comes the even more fascinating part when it came to the rental figures, doubling the size of the house generates only a 20% to 45% increase in rent.

Major milestone for retirement builder.... as Wantage development hits 50% sold out

Renaissance Retirement has announced it has reached a major milestone having sold 50 per cent of its new retirement apartments in Wantage.

The development opened in November and sales have been encouraging with over 15 apartments sold to date, making it one of the company's fastest selling developments

Over £1m of top end retirement apartments were sold in the opening week when the company opened the doors to the public and the company has reported another two sales in January

The development, built on the former magistrates court and Police station on Church Street, comprises 32 one and two bed spacious apartments. The company has been attracting a wide range of interested buyers from the local area.

Renaissance Retirement s sales director Matt Smith said. "It's a very encouraging start We are now over 50 per cent sold out and have good interest in a number of apartments. It's an exciting time for potential buyers having this choice of size of apartment and central location in Wantage."

Matt added: "There is very strong interest in the Wantage area for good quality retirement apartments Our sales message is clear—come and view some very smart, spacious energy efficient flats while there's good availability"

Chris Wotton, marketing director at Renaissance Retirement said. "If it s an easier lifestyle people are looking for this is perfect. Only a few hundred steps to the market square you have superb access to the very best Wantage offers on your doorstep."

Renaissance Retirement claims it's responding to market demand with its development which offers bigger more spacious retirement flats.

The luxurious properties will provide an exceptional standard of independent living for those considering downsizing from a larger family home.

The spacious one and two bedroom apartments are impeccably finished with contemporary interiors whilst owners also have access to an owners' drawing room and landscaped gardens.

Renaissance Retirement has a distinguished history the company was handpicked by HRH Prince of Wales to build a landmark collection of retirement apartments in the heart of Poundbury Dorchester

Noticing a demand for luxury retirement housing, Renaissance Retirement design, build and manage luxury retirement developments, with communal areas meticulously cleaned and maintained to ensure a level of comfort that one would expect in a 4 star hotel.

The company offers a number of added owner incentives and benefits, and Renaissance's complementary SmoothMove Service—which is offered to all owners at no extra cost – has proven particularly popular This bespoke service includes a dedicated SmoothMove Consultant, who can offer advice and assistance with downsizing, the planning and setting up of their new home, and administrative tasks.

Prices start from £280 000 to £475,000

Interested buyers can drop in for a tour Monday to Sunday 10 30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. To register your interest for a brochure, and for further information, visit: www.renaissancegroup.co uk or 01235 766398 for more information.

Subaru Levorg 1.6i SE GT Lineartronic

Boxer really helps Levorg to pack a punch

By Tony Yates

This week's review puts me in the driving seat of the Subaru Levorg. But, straight away I know what you are all thinking, what is a Subaru Levorg ? Well, I'm glad you asked that question because the Levorg is a car that you don't see very often on the UK roads, and until my test drive this week, I didn't know much about it either. What I will say though is that the Levorg really is the wolf in sheep's clothing.

So yes, this is a large vehicle, but it's certainly no slouch.

So in the real world, does the Boxer engine design work? Well, for me it does. It sounds great, gets a move on with minimal fuss and has plenty of low down grunt. Yes it's not as refined as some, but then again I don't want it to be refined, I want to feel that characteristic Boxer engine thumping away ahead of me as I head for the hills.

On the road

The Levorg feels great on any road surface and that's thanks to its predictable handling and smooth ride. Remember the Levorg also has some decent off-road capabilities and is in itself an effortless car to drive thanks mainly to the Symmetrical All-Wheel Drive layout which includes an active torque split system which helps further increase the off-road credentials of the Levorg.

Then, there are the brakes which feel very good thanks to 316mm ventilated discs at the front and 300mm at the rear. I kid you not, hit the pedal like you mean it, and the Levorg will come to a controlled stop in no time at all. So, no issues there then.

Design & technology

Some of the standard equipment on the Levorg comes in the form of Automatic LED headlights, 16" aluminum alloy wheels, automatic air conditioning system, 7" multifunction colour touchscreen, EyeSight, 4.3" LCD multi information display, adaptive cruise control, ABS with Electronic Brake-force Distribution, front, side, curtain & knee airbags, Thatcham Cat 1 alarm, Immobiliser, Symmetrical All-Wheel Drive, Vehicle Dynamics Control, Hill Start Assist, Active Torque Vectoring plus some of the most comfortable seats I have ever sat in.

You also get an auto dimming rearview mirror, power windows, welcome lighting, Bluetooth dual USB ports, reversing camera and a voice recognition system. Of course, as usual I have only just scratched the surface on what the Levorg has to offer.

Power & efficiency

The Levorg was equipped with a 1600cc Boxer – horizontally opposed DOHC 16V direct injection turbo petrol engine – a unit that provides a maximum power output of 170 PS @4,800 – 5,600rpm and a torque figure of 250Nm @1,600 – 4,800rpm. On the combined cycle I achieved 36mpg, which is not outstanding, but still good for a car that I consider to be a big vehicle. If you are interested, the Levorg will also reach a top speed of around130mph and 0-62mph of 6.9s.

To sum up

The Levorg is a decent car with plenty to offer. It's like a dependable dog: it will be everything you ever wanted it to be and then some. Although, there are areas where I feel the interior could feel a touch more special. But saying that, it's still very functional and the drive is very rewarding thanks mainly to that unmistakable Boxer sound. I'm going to give the Levorg four stars in this test because it truly is a machine that will always deliver.

Volvo XC40 crowned What Car? Car of the Year

- Volvos first ever compact SUV named What Car? Car of the Year 2018
- XC40 also takes Best Family SUV title
- Praised for its style quality, comfort and safety
- Volvo XC60 wins What Car? Safety Award

The Volvo XC40 has won the What Car? Car of the Year 2018 award, just four months after it went on sale

The What Car? judges were seriously impressed with the premium XC40, saying. "This is a big moment for Volvo, because the XC40 has beaten some truly exceptional rivals to win here. With its mix of comfort and class, safety and style, the new XC40 excels in all the areas that are important to buyers.

The XC40 brings a new level of flair and desirability to the compact SUV class. It mixes bold looks with cutting-edge technology, along with class-leading safety and ingenious interior storage

Every version of the XC40 is also exceptionally well equipped. Even entry level versions come with a nine-inch touch screen control system, satellite navigation, LED headlights, dual-zone climate control with a sophisticated interior air-quality system, and 18 inch alloy wheels The innovative Volvo On Call remote control and emergency assistance system is also standard on every model.

Volvo's sophisticated Pilot Assist system is available across the XC40 range This semi-autonomous drive technology assists with the steering and controls the braking and acceleration required to keep the car safely in its lane and at the desired cruising speed or at a set distance from any vehicle in front.

Commenting on the awards, Jon Wakefield, Managing Director of Volvo Car UK, said: "Winning the overall What Car? Car of the Year award for the XC40 is a fantastic result not just for everyone here in the UK but for Volvo as a global company The XC40 perfectly showcases the bold new direction Volvo is taking, and brings our class-leading connectivity, semi autonomous drive technology and innovative storage solutions to the premium compact SUV segment.

"We are immensely proud of the XC40, and for the experts at What Car? to award it their ultimate accolade is the perfect start to what will be a hugely significant year for Volvo."

Cars revealed, drivers ready

Thrills and spills ahead in new F1 season

F1

DRIVERS named, new cars unveiled and specs confirmed – the 2018 Formula One season is nearly here.

The three Oxfordshire teams – Williams, Renault and Haas – were among the first to launch their cars for the coming season.

Regulations introduced for the 2018 season mean all the cars are equipped with a halo cockpit safety device and have had the sharkfin engine cover and T-wing removed.

Haas was first out of the gate when it revealed its VF-18 challenger last Wednesday.

The Banbury outfit, who finished eighth last season for the second year running, hope the new racer will enable them to "close the gap to the top teams".

Ross Gunther Steiner said the car was an "evolution" of last year's model.

Williams was next to follow with their FW41 at a reveal event in London on Thursday.

The Grove-based team, who will be led by two young drivers Lance Stroll and Sergey Sirotkin, will be looking to better their fifth-placed finish in 2017.

Chief technical officer Paddy Lowe promised a raft of changes underneath and that, externally, "significant progress" has been made in aero performance.

Renault joined the party when they revealed their RS18 car on Tuesday.

It is the Enstone side's third chassis since returning to the sport as a factory team. After working on the suspension and downforce, "progression and refinement" on last year's car is expected.

Red Bull and Sauber are the other two teams to unveil their cars so far.

Mercedes and Ferrari are expected to reveal their cars today (Thursday).

McLaren are expected to pull the cloth back tomorrow with Toro Rosso set to reveal its livery on Monday. Force India's date is unconfirmed.

The new season starts on March 25 in Melbourne, Australia.

Great week for young skiier

Skiing

OXFORD skiing sensation Adrian Yung finished off his week at the English Alpine Championships with another top-half finish to confirm his status as one of the country's best young skiers.

The 13-year-old skis for CDC Performance and has been competing in Bormio, Italy, at the Rossignol sponsored event which showcases the next generation of top British skiers.

And the Oxfordshire alpine racer started his week off with his best result of the Championships: a seventh-place finish in the Super G, before taking 11th in the second Super G and 15th in the giant slalom.

"It's been alright here this week," the teenager said.

"I haven't quite got the results I was hoping for but I guess I'm coming away with plenty of things I need to work on and I've got plenty of ideas of what to do.

"My favourite thing this week was the Super G. I've done the best in that and I just enjoy all Super Gs I think, they are always a bit faster and more exhilarating.

"Bormio has been a great week overall anyway."

Yung is now planning on returning to training, with the intention of breaking into the top five in his events, and will compete at the British Championships next month in pursuit of those goals.

Good signs in second tests

MotoGP

BRADLEY Smith believes his KTM team is more in the mix following the second MotoGP testing session ahead of next month's season opener.

The Forest Hill rider finished 16th at the weekend's testing session in Thailand, up three places from last month's session in Malaysia.

The 27-year-old was encouraged by braking improvements as the Red Bull outfit tested a new chassis as well as new suspension and aerodynamic parts.

Smith said: "I think that we're in a better situation than we were in after Malaysia. The strength of the KTM last year was under braking and that's very important here in Thailand and we found it much better this week.

"It's been good to test here and learn the track and we're definitely more in the mix compared to the Malaysian test."

Injury forced team-mate Pol Espargaro to sit out the three-day test but Smith and stand-in Mika Kallio made "significant" progress with the KTM RC16 bike, the team said.

Team manager Mike Leitner praised Smith's "great job" in testing, adding: "I think that we've been able to see a direction for us to follow for the start of the season and that we can be quite happy with this test."

There is a final testing session in Qatar on March 1 before the 2018 season gets off to a racing start at the Losail International Circuit in the same country on March 18.

Easy win over the tame Lions

Ice Hockey

BOTTOM of the table Lee Valley Lions were never going to cause too much fuss for top of the table Oxford City Stars, who cruised to an 8-0 win on Sunday.

Kamil Kinkor was the star of the show in east London with a hat-trick.

The Lions are still without a win the season and are on a run that has reaped a solitary point in 19 games.

No one was surprised then that City strolled to victory.

Goals from Joshua Oliver (8 minutes), Matthew Lawday (11) and two from Kinkor (9 & 20) gave the away side a 4-0 lead after the first period.

Kinkor's third (29) and a Michael Whitlock (35) strike extended the lead to six by the end of the middle session before Dominic Hopkins (44) and Andrew Cox (56) rounded off the easy win in the final 20.

The victory extended Oxford's winning run to five games, a run that tallied up half a century of goals for the Oxpens Road side – conceding only seven during the same spell.

Oxford are top by one point, although nearest rivals Solent Devils have a game in hand and Bracknell Bees, six points off the pace, have four games in hand.

Stars face a double header next week when they travel to Invicta Mustangs (12th) on Saturday and entertain second-bottom Swindon Wildcats II the following day.

Chinnor up the pressure on high-fliers Cinderford

Rugby

CHINNOR continue to pile pressure on table-toppers Cinderford while Henley Hawks suffered a third straight defeat in a 13 try thriller away to Redruth on Saturday

Second-placed Chinnor earned another bonus-point win as they ran out 24 19 victors over strugglers Old Redcliffians to move 15 points clear of Taunton Titans and Redingensians.

Henley's 49 38 defeat leaves them seventh in the National League Division Two South Table on 63 points

Henley take on Taunton in their next league fixture on March 3, while Chinnor welcome Barnstaple

Elsewhere Grove slipped to a 45-3 defeat at Marlow to make it 16 defeats for the season leaving them in 13th on 27 points one place above bottom club Bicester who slupped more than a century to Old Patesians losing 109-7

At the other end of the table, fifth-placed Witney fell 34 29 at Swindon, while Oxford Harlequins were on match for in-form second-placed Banbury whose 36-17 win earned them 10 straight victories.

In the Southern Counties North, Gosford All Blacks remain 11th on 10 points after losing 34-5 at home to Aylesbury

Mid-table Didcot defeated bottom club Abingdon 19 15 in the Berks Bucks & Oxon Premier as Wheatley lost to league leaders Slough, while Littlemore remain ahead of the chasing pack after beating Milton Keynes 54 13

Jack trumps King's to a point

By George Welch

Banbury United

UPBEAT Mike Ford was full of praise for his Banbury United players after stealing four points from high-flying teams in an encouraging couple of weeks.

United conceded a last minute equaliser at leaders King's Lynn Town on Saturday, adding to the three-points gained at in-form Slough Town the previous week.

Jark Self gave Banbury a shock second half lead against King's Lynn before Tony Hilliard grabbed a stoppage time equaliser to share the points

But for Ford the point was still a point gained, not two points lost

"I'm pleased with the point," he said. "The late equaliser shouldn't detract from what was a fantastic performance

"We've just taken four points me our travels against two of the sides that are going to be vying for the play-off or the championship at the end of the season We should be really pleased with our efforts over the last couple of weeks and since the turn of the year our performances and results have shown really good steps forward."

United were indebted to goalkeeper Jack Harding who put on quite a show to thwart Liam Meltam, Michael Gash and Ryan Hawkins. Charlie Hawtin also had to be alert to clear a Hawkins effort off the line

The deadlock was broken on 72 minutes when Leam Howards released Self, who calmly fired past Alex Street in the Linnets goal from 12 yards

But Banbury failed to hold on as, in the third minute of stoppage time Hilliard fired home from 18 yards to earn a point

Ford added. "[It was a] good result, we would have taken the result before kick off and the disappointment comes because we conceded so late.

"But I thought as another movement forwards in the development of the team we were excellent."

The Puritans sit eighth, four points off the play-offs, but sixth placed Slough Town and seventh-placed Royston Town have seven and three games in hand respectively

Banbury have only lost twice in their 11 games this calendar year and are unbeaten in four matches

They welcome Kings Langley (21st) to the Banbury Plant Community Stadium on Saturday

Extra extra time winner for Abingdon

Hellenic round-up

A 95th minute winner from John Dennis earned Abingdon United a dramatic 2-1 win over Lydney Town as they continued their fine February form.

The left midfielder netted the all important goal to extend United's winning run to three games in a month that has also seen the Vale side win the reverse fixture against Lydney and overcome Longlevens.

Charlie Bateman struck midway through the first half to give Abingdon the lead, but the teams went in at half time level after Frankie Johnson scored for the hosts two minutes before the break

Lydney are now winless in 11 games and their lack of confidence proved pivotal as Deonus delightful lob secured maximum points deep into added time

Meanwhile, five-star Wantage Town continued their 100 per cent record for 2018 as they made it a quintuple of league wins with a 2-0 win over lowly Fairford Town.

Steve Robertson got the opener in the first half (34 minutes) and Nick Thorne (73) made the points secure with a second half strike

Fairford were denied a way back into the game on 78 minutes when Curtis Meare saved Dan Reynolds' penalty

Elsewhere Oxford City Nomads lost their fourth successive game in all competitions with a 2-0 defeat at Tuffley Rovers.

Warren Mann gave Rovers the lead on the half hour mark before Nomads were reduced to 10 men. Shayne Anson added Tuffley's second on 93 minutes

Birdies and bogeys pepper Eddie's 72-holes in Oman

Golf

ABINGDON golfer Eddie Pepperell lost to settle for a tied 44th place finish at the NBO Oman Open – despite striking 15 birdies

The Frilford Heath member also dropped shots on 11 holes—including three double bogeys – to finish one-under par on 287 following three rounds of 71 and a 74 to earn just over €7,000 in prize money

Pepperell shot rounds of 71 to make the halfway cut in the inaugural tournament with his Friday showing much steadier than the opening day

A damaging third round, which consisted of a double-bogey seven at the 16th hole meant he slipped 18 places to 49th with 18 holes to go.

Following a par front nine on the final day the 27 year-old looked like breaking 70 for the first time in the tournament, before dropping shots at both the 15th and 16th holes to finish with his third 71

So a tied 44th place finish it was for Pepperell who survived the full tournament for the first time this year

Dutchman Joost Luiten won the competition after carding a final round of 68 to finish on a 16-under-par 272 He finished two shots ahead of Englishman and closest rival Chris Wood

Pepperell tees off from the 10th tee at the Commercial Bank Qatar Masters today (Thursday) at 7am local time 4am GMT The tournament is the final one of the Middle Eastern leg of the European Tour

Youngsters put through the hoops at trial

Basketball

THREE young basketball players have been invited to trial for the South England Under 11 team in April.

Ten-year-olds Rhys Saunders, from All Saints C of E School in Didcot and William Kent from Marsh Gibbon C of E School in Bicester, impressed selectors so much the pair have been invited to a final selection session on April 8

Eight-year-old Reeve Mahalingham, a pupil at Abingdon Preparatory School, was also asked to attend the April trials, but the Year 4 pupil is too young and will have to wait another year to compete at the Under 11 level.

The trio of South Oxfordshire Heat Basketball Club youngsters will be joined at the event by 25 other players from Berkshire Buckinghamshire and Hampshire

The club's trustees said. "One of our players [L K. Mahalingham] was the only Oxfordshire based player to be selected to play in the Under 11 National Tournament last season and Hustle [Kent] and Deadshot [Saunders] are continuing that basketball tradition.

"They have both been at almost every practice and their hard work in training and fighting spirit on the court has made the difference

"The invitation to trial has only been extended to just over 20 players from the hundreds who play club basketball across four counties so it is a remarkable achievement to have made it thus far"

The South England team will play other UK regions in the National Tournament in June.

Sam's the man as City comeback in Cornwall

By George Welch

Oxford City

SUPERSTAR Sam Nombe was the star of the show as Oxford City staged a stunning second half fight back against play-off side Truro City

The Cornwall outfit stormed to a 2-0 lead but surrendered their advantage in the second session as City fought back in spectacular style.

The Hoops were two down within 20 minutes as goals from Ben Gerring (10 minutes) and Aaron Lamont (19) looked to have doomed Mark Jones' side to another away defeat.

Nombe came in for his first start in his second appearance and the forward led the fight back.

The Milton Keynes Dons loanee scored twice with a couple of composed finishes after a Matt Paterson penalty shortly after the restart got Oxford back into the game.

A jubilant Jones said it was "fantastic" comeback.

He said. "A lot of teams 2-0 down away from home in Truro might have caved in a bit but it shows the tremendous attitude of the players

"We have been questioned quite a few times on various things but usually we bounce back.

"It s a great feeling when you come back from 2 0 down to win a game and we also showed some resilience in the last few minutes to defend things which was pleasing to see."

The stunning 3-2 win lifted City two places to 15th before midweek games saw them slip to 16th.

But the latest triumph, which made it back-to-back wins for the first time since November moved the Hoops to seven points above the relegation zone.

Unsurprisingly Jones confessed going 2 0 down was not part of the plan– but he was proud of his players that staged the comeback.

He said after the game "It was a good all round performance but I'm not going to lie we certainly didn't want to go 2-0 down – it was o t part of the plan – but what a way to win a game

"We should praise the players – they did great for us. It s certainly going to make the five-hour journey home a little bit more pleasurable."

Second half goals seal win

Evo Stik round-up

A HUGE 3-0 home win against fellow promotion contenders Evesham United maintained Didcot Town's Evo-Stik South West play-off charge.

It took three second half goals from Felipe Barcelos George Jeacock and Olli Thomas to secure the points for Diddy

The Railwaymen overtook their hosts who slipped out of the play offs into fourth place with the win

Following a goalless first half, the game exploded into life with a couple of quickfire Didcot goals from Barcelos and Jeacock.

Thomas wrapped up the points in added time with a wonderful 25-yard strike that shot into the top corner

Kidlington lost their first game at Yarnton Road since August with a 2-1 home defeat against Larkhall Athletic.

The Larks took the lead when Matt Britton side footed home on 69 minutes.

Mark Janes nodded in the equaliser less thas 10 minutes later but the away side won the game thanks to an 83rd minute Joe Tumelty thunderbolt.

Struggling North Leigh s winless 2018 continued with a 5-0 hammering at Wimborne Town. The Millers are now winless in 10 matches

Meanwhile in the East division, Thame United s inconsistent form continued with their third defeat in six matches, a run that also includes three wins

United lost 1-0 at Bedford Town, leaving them in 11th place on 42 points from 27 games 12 points off the play offs with games in hand.

Young U's to face Luton in final at Kassam

THE young U's will get a chance to show what they can do on a bigger stage when they welcome Luton Town in the regional final of the League Cup next month.

Oxford United's Under 18s will do battle with the Hatters youngsters at the Kassam Stadium with the winners set for a final against Wigan Athletic or Hartlepool United.

The game on March 31 will give the current crop of promising United young'uns a chance to play at Gresnble Road for the first time

Oxford, who beat Exeter City in the last round, normally play their home games at Abingdon United s Northcourt Road but can look forward to a bigger occasion at the Kassam this time around.

Youth team coach Leon Blackmore Such said: 'We d like to thank everyone who has made it possible to play the game at the stadium.

"It's a big thing for the lads and I know they are really going to be looking forward to the game now

"It s not just about playing on the pitch it s also about the whole experience."

He added: "It's the day after the first team play Scunthorpe at home so hopefully fans will come along and enjoy a game of football on a Saturday and we can get a decent crowd in to create a great atmosphere for the boys."

The regional final will kick off at 11am with ticket details to be announced by the club.

Teen's flying visit to captain Under 19s

IT was a hectic few days for young Canice Carroll who clocked up the air miles captaining Ireland Under 19s to a win against Romania in between Oxford United games

The right back was on the bench for United s defeat at Rotherham on Tuesday last week, after which he flew out to meet up with the rest of the Irish squad.

The teenager who turned 19 last month, missed the 1-0 friendly win against Romania on the Tuesday but skippered the side to a 2-1 victory against the same opposition in Murcia on Thursday

Carroll said it was an "honour" to captain the youth international side.

He packed his bags again and flew back to Oxford the same day to train with the U's on Friday ahead of Oxford's 1-0 loss at home to Plymouth on Saturday

Carroll, who has made 16 appearances for United this season, took his place on the bench again for the match.

The defender is yet to feature under caretaker manager Derek Fazackerley, with his last appearance being in Pep Clotet's last game in charge a 2-1 home defeat to Bury on January 20 Carroll s only goal for the club came in the 3-2 loss at Bradford on December 30

Two second-half goals from Shamrock Rovers' Aaron Dobbs currently on loan at Wexford, secured back-to-back wins for Ireland.

Fight and belief will help us improve performance

By George Welch

Oxford United 0

Plymouth Argyle 1

Sonny Bradley 45+3

Attendance: 8 301 (1 802 away)

STRUGGLING Oxford United slipped to within five points of the League One relegation zone with a narrow 1-0 loss at home to in form Plymouth Argyle on Saturday

The result was not much of a surprise given the current form table but even a much improved performance could not stop the U s falling to a fifth defeat in six matches

Sonny Bradley s header in first half stoppage time proved to be the winner as sorry United lost their third successive match at the Kassam.

Midfielder Ryan Ledson admitted the squad is suffering from a lack of confidence, but that be was encourage by an improved performance.

The 20-year-old said "We passed them off the park in the first half. [but] we've got to keep striving for ward and hopefully put in more performances like that

"It was our final ball or shot that let us down. We were getting into the positions, it s just time to put them away There s maybe a lack of belief. Every team would be down with the run we're on but we've got to keep fighting and believing."

Oxford are struggling for confi dence and, on another day James Henry and Alex Mowatt would have scored their first half chances The latter was particularly culpable blazing horribly wide from a Todd Kane cut back.

Pictures: Steve Daniels

Isaac Buckley-Ricketts is tackled by Sonny Bradley who went an to score Plymouth's goal and net the three points

Caretaker boss Derek Fazackerley noticed an all round improvement from his players.

He said "The performance was head and shoulders above the previous week [a 2 1 home defeat to Bristol Rovers] when ve were critical of the players.

"We asked them to play with courage, discipline and control and I thought they did that

"We pretty much had them on the back foot for most of the second half but just couldn t find a clear cut opening."

Former United striker Ryan Taylor struck Simon Eastwood's bar and Kane cleared a Graham Carey effort off the line as the Pilgrims hunted a second goal.

Oxford 15th on 41 points became more threatening when Gino van Kessel and Malachi Napa were introduced but the U s just could not force an opening.

Fazackerley admitted his side faces a "tough" fixture when they travel to Northampton Town, who sit one place above the relegation zone, on Saturday

Rothwell out for few weeks with injury

THERE was good news and bad news from the Oxford United treatment room this week.

Midfielder Joe Rothwell pictured limped off in the first half of Saturday's defeat to Plymouth Argyle and had a scan on Monday

The bad news is that he will miss the next few weeks but the good news is that the injury was not as bad as it first appeared

United s head of sports science and medicine said on Tuesday that there was no tear as first feared Instead there is a relatively small irritation' at the top of the 23-year-old's hamstring

Andrew Procter added "It s not related to his previous injury and it s certainly not a dramatic tear, it s just bad luck that he picks up a new injury after successfully coming back from the last one

"So now we know precisely what we are dealing with and can start working with Joe to get him out on the pitch again

"We have to be careful with it and we won t be setting timescales on his return until everything settles down a little but he has a fantastic attitude understands what needs to be done and hopefully he won t be out for too long."

The former Manchester United trainee has scored five goals in 32 appearances for the U s this season

■ Right back Sam Long, 23, has extended his initial month stay at Hampton & Richmond Borough for a further month
